AN ESCAPED CONVICT MAKES HIS SECOND ESCAPE FROM THE LAW .-On Saturday last Mayor Manly received a telegram giving the descrption of a man named Jno. F. Porter who had escaped three years ago from Atlanta, Ga., after having been convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to the penitentiary. The city police were set to work to look up the case, and on Saturday night arrested a young man whose appearance answered the description, but it was soon found the police had made a mistake in the arrest.

It was then ascertained that the party sought for was a man who had been passing under the name of Flournoy, and who had been engaged since August last in the Prairie saloon,-a man who had conducted himself well since his residence in Raleigh. This party learning what was transpiring, made his escape from the city and thus eluded the clutches of the law. Strong efforts are being made for his capture, and he may yet be remanded to the authorities of Georgia. It is claimed that his escape was abetted by parties who should have furthered the ends of

GREENVILLE AND GOLDSBORO RAILROAD.-We learn that a very large and enthusiastic meeting of citizens from Pitt, Green, Wayne, and portion of Wilson and Lenoir counties was held at Snow Hill on Saturday last to take some action in regard to the proposed railroad from Greenville via Snow Hill to Greens-

Addresses were made by several prominent gentlemen representing the different counties-all urging the importance of building the road. Pledges of money and co-operation were made which lead us to believe that the work will be accomplished.

Commissioners were appointed to open books of subscription to the capital stock, and so soon as ten thousand dollars shall have been subscribed, a meeting of the Stockholders will be called and a permanent organization effected. So soon as this is done a survey will be made and the work commenced.

LODGED IN JAIL - Quent Bryant was captured in Salisbury on Saturday last and brought to this city Sunday morning by officer Parker, who had been dispatched for him. Quent was recently arrested in this city on the charge of robbing a gentleman named Jones, of Holly Springs Township, in this county, and escaped from the city while on temporary bail. He stands charged with several other offences of a similar character, having been bailed out in each case, but when he was returned here Sunday all of his bondsmen withdrew their names, and as a consequence he was placed under the care of Sheriff Dunn to await a trial before Judge Watts at the January term of Wake Superior Court.

A HEAVY HAUL -His Honor Mayor Manly had quite a heavy run upon his levees Sunday and Monday morning. Wm. Barker, col., for being "drunk and down," was fined $5 and costs, and the following named parties, all colored, for disorderly conduct, were each fined $5 and costs: Matilda Thomas, John Thomas, Wm. Edwards and his son John Edwards, Virgil Mordecai Frank Norwood, Laura Busbee, Martha Gudger, thus putting into the city treasury $45.00. It would seem from this police record that Christmas was already getting into the bones of our colored people.

KATE FISHER.-This actress made her first appearance at Tucker Hall last night, with her wonderfully trained horse, in the play of "Mazeppa." It was evident that the stage was not suited to this grand play, and whatever may be the merits of Miss Fisher and her company, they could show to no advantage last night in "Mazeppa."

To night the beautiful play of the "French Spy" will be performed, to be followed by Dick Turpin, and we feel certain that in the character of the "French Spy" Miss Fisher will won on many of the first boards in the country.

WHY AND WHEN LAMPS ExPLODE.—The following hints from the Scientific American may, if ob-PLODE.—The following hints from the Scientific American may, if obthe candidates for the U. S. Senate | served, prevent many of the explosfrom Virginia. It should have been | ions the horrible results of which the press is almost daily called upon to chronicle: All explosions of coal-oil lamps are caused by the vapor or gas that collects in the space above the oil. When full of oil, of course a lamp cautains no gas, but immediately on lighting the lamp consumption of oil begins, soon leaving space for gas, which commences to form as the lamp warms up, and, after burning a short time sufficient gas will ac-cumulate to form an explosion. The gas in a lamp will explode only when ignited. In this respect it is like unpowder. Cheap or inferior oil is always the most dangerous.

The flame is communicated to the gas in the following manner: The wick tube in all lamp burners is made larger than the wick which is to pass through it.

It would not do to have the wick work tightly in the burner; on the contrary, it is essential that it move up and down with perfect ease. In this way it is unavoidable that space in the tube is left along the sides of the wick sufficient for the flame from the burner to pass down into the lamp and explode the gas. Many things may occur to cause the flame to pass down the wick and explode the lamp.

1. A lamp may be standing on a table or mautel, and a slight puff of air from the window, or the sudden opening of a door, cause an explosion 2. A lamp may be taken up quick from a table or mantle and instant-explode. A lamp is taken into an entry 3. A lamp is taken rule of doors, where there is a draft, or out of doors, and an explosion ensues.

4 A lighted lamp is taken up t flight of stairs, or is raised quickly to place it on the mantel, resulting an explosion. In all these cases the mischief is done by the air move-ment—either by suddenly checking the draft, or forcing air down the chimney against the flame.

5. Blowing down the chimney to extinguish the light is a frequent cause of exposition.

6. Lamp explosions have been caused by using a chimney broken off at the top, or one that has a piece broken out whereby the draft is variable and the flame unsteady.

7. Sometimes a thoughtless person puts a small-sized wick in a larger burner, thus leaving considerable space along the edges of the wick.

8. An old burner, with its air drafts clogged up, which rightfully should be thrown away, is sometimes continued in use, and the result is an ex-

TO VISIT THE WILMINGTON IN-DUSTRIAL (COLORED) FAIR -The Star thus speaks of the following visits that will be made to Wilmington during the holding of the Colored Industrial Fair to be held in that city during the Christmas holidays:

The Neptune Fire Company of Charlotte have engaged quarters this city to occupy during the Fair. The company numbers 60 men and will be here at the Fair to engage in the course with the Wilmington Fire Companies.

A company of 15-two teachers and thirteen deaf and dumb and blind children-will be here from the In stitute at Raleigh, to make an exhibition of their talents at the Fair. They are said to be wonderful.

Quarters have been secured for the Fayetteville military company, who will be here on a visit to the Fair.

and frequently a great many more. To which another exchange facetiously adds that another very good way is to tie the hens' feet together. Our lady readers can take their choice to the best plan.

OUR KITCHEN MARKET .- There was unusual animation in and around sustain the reputation which she has our market house yesterday, chickens, eggs, turkeys and such things coming in quite freely, as an evidence, we presume, of the near approach of Christmas. Turkeys were bringing from 75 cents to $1.25, chickens from 20 to 30 cents, and eggs at 20a25 cents. Great many families are now laying in their Christmas turkeys. PERSONAL.-We were favored vesterday with visitors from Capt. T. C. Williams, Supervisor of the Old North State Insurance Company of Warrenton, and Mr. H. A. Reams, proprietor of the Durham Warehouse. We are gratified to learn from both of these gentlemen of the positive prosperity of the respective interests over which they preside. Thomas C. Evans, lately connected with the Vicksburg Herald, has ac-

As we stated Sunday morning, the engineer Fetner, who caused the late secident on the C., C. & A. R. R., had a hearing before Judge Bynum on Friday last as to whether his arrest in Georgia by unauthorized parties, and without the authority of the Governors of South Carolina and Georgia, was not illegal and unwarranted and justified his immediate release, Judge Bynum held that the cause of arrest was sufficient and remanded the man Fetner to jail, and under the warrant of delivery granted by Gov. Brogden, he is now doubtless in South Carolina in the hands of the authorities of that State. The Charlotte Observer gives a full account of the hearing before Judge B., from which we take the following testimony of the conductor of the train which Fetner was running: Wm McKenzie was sworn: He said that he was the conductor of the train which caused the accident: left Columbia on the 17th with a train of eight empty cars for Augusta, and was following 10 minutes behind the regular schedule upon which Capt. Sprinkle was running. At Rich Spring I noticed from his staggering white colling the longing of the care while oiling the engine, that the fireman was intoxicated, and in consequence of this I got on the engine, saw the fireman hand Fetner the cup which was kept on the engine to drink water out of, but do not know what was in the cup. Smelt whiskey. Following behind Sprinkle's train, could sometimes see the red lights on the rear car for a mile and a half according to the grade. About 500 yards from Bacon's where the train which we were following went into the side track, I saw them waving us down, and called Fetner's attention to the fact. He put his left hand on the lever of the whistle and his head out of the window, but did not blow. When we were about 150 yards from the switch, I saw we were going to have an accident, and called out, "Jim, for God's sake stop!" Just then he blew his whistle and I jumped to the brake of the engine and put it on. As soon as the crash came I went down as far as Sprinkle's engine then returning walked to the rear of my own train and sat down for 10 or 15 minutes on the cross ties. I haven't seen Ferner since the accident until now. I do not know whether he was intoxicated or not. The train could have been stopped in 250 yards.

Cross examined : We had a light train of six cars; my train was about the same length as that of Capt. Sprinkle's; it had eight double breaks on it and three train hands: It might perhaps have been stopped within 100 yards. I saw nothing to indicate that Fetner was drunk, and I thought he had control of his engine. Conductors are charged with the control of their trains. The rules of the road require that when a train looked to for light to guide the party runs on the side track that it shall close the switch after it and throw it on the main line. I had nothing more to do with my train after the accident. I left fearing that the passengers might do me some harm.

There seems to be much indignation felt by railroad men that Fetner should have been arrested by railroad men, and the Atlanta (Ga.) papers are indignant that the laws governing the different States should have been violated in that State. Referring to the arrest of Fetner without warrant, the Constitution asks, "is it kidnapping?" and adds,

Under section 4367 of the code, his arrest and carrying away of Fetner is a clear case of kidnapping, for which the parties may be indicted, and if convicted, sentenced to the penitentiary for from four to seven vears.

Upon proper application being made to Governor Smith it is believed he will require the return of Fetner The railroad engineers are considerably excited over the affair.

DURHAM WAREHOUSE STILL AHEAD.-H. A. Reams, proprietor of this well known house, sold a lot of old tobacco a few days since which averaged $62.70 per cwt. As Reams would say, "business is business," and this is business.

REWARD,-Gov. Brogden has issued a reward of $200 for the arrest of the young man Columbus Jones, white, who recently killed a negro man named James in Hickory, the particulars of which we have already published.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA .- The Annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina will be held at the Executive office in the city of Raleigh on Thursday, 16th December, 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M. C. H. BROGDEN, GCV., ex-officio Chairman. KEMP P. BATTLE, Secretary.

Yesterday's Mail Brought three more certificates in favor of "Cannabis Indica," the great East India remedy for consumption, bronchitas and asthma:

———: Send me one dozen Oint-ment and one of Cannabis Indica. When Mr. J. W. Fisher brought his wife to me for examination, I found her in the incipent stage of Tubercu lous Consumption. Then it was I concluded to make a fair trial of Indian Hemp, and now there is a general demand for those remedies. The Ointment excels everything of its kind I ever saw or tried. Fraternally yours. P. A. SIFFORD, M. D. China Grove, Rowan, N. C.

N. B. This remedy speaks for itself. One bottle will satisfy the most skeptical. Ask your druggist to get it. $2.50 per bottle, or three bottles for $6.50. Pills and Ointment $1.25 As these are imported remedies we do not commission them, but will make cash agents everywhere.

Influence of the South in Congress—

1 xperience and High Character of Southern Democratic Members—A cositive Policy Advocated by Them

under recent date, says:
The policy of inaction advocated by many Northern Democrats does not meet with much favor among the Southern members. They don't be-lieve the Presidency is to be won by sitting on the gate-post and waiting for something to turn up. Standing still and railing at the Administration does not pass with them for statesmanship. There is a good deal more political sagacity, talent for public affairs, and parliamentary skill (somewhat rusty from long disuse) among the Southern Representatives than among their brothsentatives than among their breth-ren from the Northern States. The Southern Democracy, eager to as-sert itself in national affairs, puts its best man forward for Conits best man forward for Congress, while a large number of the Northern Democratic members were nominated without any expectation that they could be elected. The tidal wave of 1874 swept them into office to the amazement, and often the disgust of their own party, which took them up to fill tickets doomed. it was thought, to defeat. There is no timber for the manufacture of statesmem in these accidental members, and not much more in a score of so of muscular, loud talking men who have worked their way into Congress from the back country districts by dash and impudence rather than by brain power.

With an advantage in the intelligence and political experience of its representatives, the South will play a part in shaping legisl tion such as it has not played since 1860. The leading members from that section have great faith in the Democratic party as the party destined to reform the evils of Government and put the country on the road to prosperity. They insist that it shall be a party of action. It should employ its power in the House, they say, to prove to the country that it is worthy of full confidence, that it is bold and aggressive, as well as prudent and conservative, and that it has a distinctive policy which it is not afraid to submit to the verdict of the people in the Presidential election. This view was enlarged upon in conservation today by a distinguished man from one of the Gulf States. He said that in the Democratic platforms of the past and in the utterances of the great Demo eratic leaders of former days would be found the principles which fully meet the present demands of the peo ple. Thus the theory of civil service reform was enunciated by Calhoun power and patronage in the hands of and Benton in their speeches point-ing out the evils of concentrating the Executive, and the true principles of currency were expounded by a long line of Democratic statesmen. In fact, there was scarcely a public question of the day, he said, for which the correct solution could not on its future career. In answer question as to the attitude of the Southern delegation toward the national debt, he was very positive in his assurance that all the Democratic members from the South wer termined that nothing should be done tending in the remotest way to impair the financial honor and credit of the nation. They desired to go plain declaration to that effect which would quiet any apprehension that might be felt by the people of the North or by the public credi-tors abroad. He hoped to see an unequivocal resolution adopted by the unanimous vote of the Democratic members of Congress that would put it out of the power of the Republicans to charge the Democratic party with favoring any measure looking directly or indirectly to repudiation.

They have the queerest kind of a crazy man in Iowa. He developed into insanity near Sioux City. He wandered mysteriously from pla place, wore nothing but a shirt, but taiked naturally enough about the weather being cold. The wayside travellers gave him old clothing, when he crept up shivering to their houses. Then he would run away with great speed, strip off everything but a very thin shirt, and continue his way to the next house. He thus deposited several piles of clothes on the prairie. His bare feet became lacerated, and frozen so they could not bleed. Coming near Sloux City he was taken in charge for the purpose of giving him an asylum. His name was ascertained to be John Heath, and he was formerly a section master on a railroad, and has a wife and three children living at Whiting-on the Sioux City and Pacific.

The cost of throwing at a goat and missing him has been judicially set-tled in Charleston, S. C. Mr. E. O. THE Washington Republican still pronounces the Mississippi election "a fraud!" It is alarmed for the future of Republicanism in that State and for the continuance in office of the Governor himself. The Republican's fears have a foundation, for the people of Mississippi of all classes, having once again gotten a taste of honest government, will be loth to resign it again into the hands of the thieves who have been so long rebbing the State.

WE are pleased to chronicle the following fact from the Petersburg (Va.) Index Appeal: "One of the commissioners of Virginia encourage North Carolina in stock. ing their streams with fish. To that end the appointment of a State commission will be asked, so that the two commissions may operate together in regard to the waters contiguous to the boundary line.

HOW THE MONEY WENT.

Mr. Prætorias, editor of St. Louis Westtiche Post is one who says he saw a despatch in 1872 from Senator Morton, telegraphed to the Chairman of the Republican State Committee of St. Louis, saying that to insure the success of the Republican party in his State, he must have $50,000, and the whiskey men must raise that amount immediately.

Senator Morton denies this statedenied the charges against him with equal emphasis, and a grand jury has indicted him and he is on trial. Is Morton better authority than Babcock?

THE election of a United States Senator by the Virginia Legislature is at present awakening considerable interest in our sister State. For a number of days the Democratic caucus has been endeavoring to agree upon a nomination without any deflinite result to the time of this writing. Messrs. John Goode, Bradley Johnson and R. H. Tucker standing about equal chances according to appearances, but it is probable some man not yet to the front may be selected. On Saturday night State Senator John W. Daniel was named, and it is thought he will prove quite strong. A vote is to be taken to-day in joint session of the two houses, but if the friends of the different parties shall not have agreed by that time, the joint session will have to adjourn from day to day until the caucus nominates. ismano

THE displacement of Gen'l Henderson as assistant prosecutor in the whiskey frauds, because he is alleged to have reflected upon the President, will be apt to be construed. not so much as the effect of resent- a position to be kept more promiment, as the removal of an acute | wently before the public eye ; but and honest officer who had the clues | buried in its solitude, it passed out of the guilty parties in his hands of the public mind until rescued and was following them up with un- from oblivion by the ardor of acerring certainty. No one who reads tive friends and its wheels of vitalithe extract of Henderson's speech which we publish this morning will discover any thing that an honest and sensitive patriot might not have spoken. There was nothing in it that ought to have offended a mind balanced in its own integrity. But it was a guilty conscience that was its own accuser. The jeet of a road from some point on confidential friend, private Secretary of the President, had been caught in the meshes of the law. Inquiry might go farther. The astute and indefatigable counsel might have gone one step higher, and then-

Verily the President will lose as much by his seemingly ebullition of by the relentless fiat of the Supreme temper-really by his apprehension of consequences-as if Henderson ries, and the name of University had been suffered to go on and probe Station, the Northern terminus the matter to the bottom.

Col. S. H. Lockett, late of Mont-gomery, Ala., but now serving with the Egyptian Army, writes that all the positions for which foreign offiwere wanted are filled. The number of Americans there engaged is twenty, and they are partly employed in the bureaux at headquar-ters, in Cairo, and partly in explorations at the interior.

THE NORTHERN METHODIST

We are glad to say that there is a broad line of distinction between the Methodist church, North, and the Methodist church, South. The one, fired by fanaticism, was the leader in the relentless war against slavery. It forgot its mission as the propagator of the Gospel to embark as a ierce crusader in the worldly interests of a political party.

The other, true to its principles remained steadfast to the banners of religion, its sincere and devoted ministry preaching the Gospel of peace. The northern branch furiously fanned the flame of hate, and urged on their sections to the extermination. The other quietly pursued its holy work and kept out of the arena of politics. Between the two there was deadly antagonism, and they parted, never more to unite, if the recent demonstration at Boston is the voice of the northern church. For how is reconciliation possible when these ministers-two hundred of them-proclaim undying hate to the South, when they almost deify Grant as the destroyer of slavery and hold his continuance in power as essential to the national safety.

From such bigotry as this, a new and dreadful danger looms up. So far in the career of the country, the religious element has not loomed up-Sectarian influences have not openly ventured to direct political action, If the Methodist church North, rich, powerful and influential, presuming apon its power, engages in the direction of the political affairs of the country, it is safe to say that other denominations, only a little ess rich, powerful and influential will have a word to say, and then may arise that most calamitous of all strife, a religious war.

Grant himself by the introduction in his message, of questions connectwill visit Raleigh very soon to ed with religion, panders to this pretension of the Northern Methodists and aggravates the danger. His nomination by Bishop Haven for the third term, and its unanimous endorsement, taken in connection with the message, has much the appearance of concert between the

We believe that the Southern Methodist church is too earnestly engaged in its legitimate work to meditate upon such extraneous and dangerons questions. We believe they will be among the first to denounce such departure from religious propriety and to rebuke those who. in taking so positive a political stand, an implied threat to all other denominations, and endanger the harmony which ought to exist among all christian sects.

RAILROAD TO CHAPEL HILL. The want of this connection has been felt ever since the unwise opposition to the course of the North Carolina Railroad which diverted it from Chapel Hill to its present route. The error of the authorities was proved by the fact that students, when they desired it, would find a railroad at the nearest point and seek those pleasures from which it was thought the absence of railroad facilities would exclude them. And while the University derived no advantage from its seclusion, the village of Chapel Hill suffered positive injury. Other interests prospered, whilst hers suffered by the violation in which it was left. What might have been a growing and prosperous trade in its own resources, developed by a railroad, langnished and withered when the University, the centre of its life, went with into long eclipse. Even that eclipse would have been only a partial one if Chapel Hill had been in ty once more set in motion. In the famous session of 1868. made memorable by its wild system | sion from the boundary nere, out the of internal improvements, and its surpasses my power of description, it lavish appropriations, subsequently squandered by the unprincipled adventurs who engineered the bills through the Legislature, the prothe North Carolina road was so far matured that a charter was obtained, a company organized and a terminus fixed upon. But this describable. Splendid weather. scheme, tainted like all the others with the blight of self interest and corruption, came to an abrupt end Court, and some disgraceful memoof the proposed road, alone survive to recall the unfortunate attempt at railroad connection with Chapel Hill.

But the attempt, though made under such unfortunate auspices, was not an unwise or impracticable one, and the time has come when it may be seriously considered again. In greater demand than ever.'

The University has been warmed anew into life, and with the awakened zeal of the people of the whole State, its permanent prosperity may be assured. But its development would be immensely hastened by being brought into closer connection with the outside world. The day has passed when purity of morals, refinement of manners, knowledge of mankind, or even a higher standard of scholarship and greater development of intellect were thought to be secured by exclusion altogether from the busy world. It is acknowledged now that students are but men, with their characters put on trial, the test of which is best made by practical contest with the facts and temptations of real life. The student is intended to become the man of action, the enlightened but practical head of the interestsof society. Contact with men, a fair and candid trial of his principles, gives him that robustness of character which fits him for a leader, or in time betrays that weakness which points him out as an unsafe guide.

For the University, therefore, an avenue to the outside world is desirable. For Chapel Hill itself, it is of great importance. The beauty of its situation, the healthfulness of its climate, the abundant supplies in the surrounding country, the cheapness of living mark it out as a favorite retreat for summer, or a permanent residence for those who are edneating their sons, or seeking a quiet and intellectual society, and perhaps to those who are consulting a genteel economy. Accessibility is all that is wanting to demonstrate the truth of these suggestions. Even with the disadvantages of its dependance upon "dirt roads" Chapel Hill, in the haleyon days of the University, had grown up to a population of nearly two thousand. A railroad would speedily develop that into four times that number. Increase in the value of property would so on make its impression upon the revenues of both the county

Late years, have developed another interest at Chapel Hill which the town, county and State, but seto the road. The iron mines at Chanel Hill are practically inexhaustible, producing iron of the very it could find transportation. Rail- ignominious chains which are now road connection with the North Clay made himself immortal in the Carolina road would give this and one saying, 'I would rather be right at once ensure the roads employ- worth all the baubles of the day, and nent to their full capacity. This, together with travel, and with the increased freights of goods to Chapel Hill, and the return of agricultural products would give the road a steady and paving business on a capital we may say, of $300,000. This must be raised by individuals, and by the rail road companies interested in this important feeder-for there is no doubt it would contribute more in that capacity than any branch road in the State.

As to a terminus, the choice is be tween University station, five miles east of Hillsboro, and the nearest point from the N. C. R. R. to Chapel Hill, Hillsboro or Durham.

We hope the question will be considered and the construction of this important road determined upon, believing that it will be a source of profit to the stockholders, and incidentially, to the State, as well as of undeniably happy influence upon the fortunes of the University.

MARRIAGE IN COLORED HIGH LIEE-J. Henri Burch, a colored member of the Louisana State Senate, was married a few days ago to the widow of Lieutenant-Governor Dunn, at New Orleans. The bride who is a stately looking woman, and an accomplished musician, had her costume prepared by the most fash-ionable modiste in the city, and was brilliantly decorated with diamonds The wedding reception was attended by over five hundred persons.

The Emperor William was enthu iastic over his reception in Italy. He sent this dispatch to the Empress from Mila: "I have arrived here safely. It was a triumphal proceswas so unspeakably enthusiastic with the usual vivacity of the Italians. In all my long life I never have seen mything equal to it. The South Carolina House of Representatives has expelled the reporter of The Charleston News and Courier from the floor because of charges made by him against certain members. The newspaper says it has full confidence in its reporter, that it carefully examined his statements before publishing them, and that it proposes to pove them all before the session closes. The reporter may have been justly expelled, but nine times out of ten when a legislative body loses its temper in that way it is a pretty sure sign that it is smarting under the too reat publicity of unpleasant truths.

The Texas Tribune says, "The ate "atmospherical freshness" has brought on many cases of Coughs and Colds, and Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is

Extract from Gen. Henderson's

Speech in the Avery Trial. The following extract from Gen. Henderson's speech, taken from the St. Louis Republican of the 4th inst. shows the heavy insinuation upon the esident made by Gen. Henderson which caused his dismissal from the prosecution of the whiskey frauds: This is the blot upon our Governent that it is possiple for such things to exist. They could not exist in England, France, or any other civilized government, but are peculiar to our boasted republic. It is party, party, party that damns our country, and he who has the nerve to resist the behests of party is worthy of more credit than the bravest of old Roman soldiers. Under the name of party every fraud and infamy within the range of possibilities is perpe-trated. It is to be hoped and prayed that the time is coming when a man who has the imperious force of character to resist the dictates of party will be looked up to as a hero. we may go to the bottom-corruption may feast in all our institutions, and our nation may decay and fall before we learn this grand truth. I respect party when it is composed of honest nen, organized for honest purposes but when it is composed of men banded together to perpetrate frauds upon Government, or to serve the personal ends of its leaders, then way with it. I'll none of it. Let Republicans and Democrats all take old and join in the support of principles which will serve to secure the best results to our Government. which will give dignity and stability to our nation and which will inure to common benefit; and never let us be led astray so far as to make one officer of our Government subservient to

What business, then Douglass with him? an official goes into office, le should be free and indepen-dent of all influences except that of law, and if he recognizes any other master, then this Government is tumbling down. What right has the President to interfere with Commissioner Douglass in the prope discharge of his duties or with the Treasurer? None; and Douglass showed a lamentable weakness of character when he listened to Babcock's dictates. He should either have insisted that his orders as they existed be carried out, or should have signed his office. Why did Douglass bend the supple hinges of the knee and permit any interference by the President? This was Douglass' own business, and he stood responsible for it, under his official oath. He was bound to listen to no dictation from the President, Babcock, or any other officer, and it was his duty to see that order was carried out or to resign, would that we had officials who possessed more of that steruer stuff of which the is not only of immense importance to office-holders of olden times were made Why do they not leave their cures at once a permanent revenue effice when they cannot remain there honorably? NOON DISPATCHES.

The Reasons Why Glover Would not Succeed Henderson in the tion of the Whiskey Ring. St. Louis, Dec 13.-Mr. Glover stated to a friend he was unwilling to succeed Henderson under the restraints imposed by Pierrepont telegram re-moving General Henderson. That he considered the acceptance equiva-ient to the endorsement of Grant's right to remove any one engaged on the prosecution for the slightest criticism upon the conduct of the President or his cabinet. In short, that he regarded an acceptance under the circumstances as a concession of certain privileges which not only every attorney but every man feels himself entitled to in this country. Foreign Miscellany. The Prince of Wales arrived at Madras yesterday and had an enthusiastic reception.

A Madrid dispatch says that Gen. Morones, with 25,000 troops, will conduct operations in Guepuzcoa against the Carlists.

A Berlin dispatch says the Budget Committee of the Reichstag has fi-nally rejected the new taxes proposed by the Government. A dispatch from Santander says that 8,000 infantry with calvary and artillery are expected at that place. All the steamers in that harbor have been embargoed for transportation

Domestic Miscellany.

President Grant has recognised Jno. DeB. Kops as Vice-Consul of Netherland at Savannah Broadhead, a prominent lawyer of St. Louis, has accepted Henderson's place as leading lawyer in the whiskey ring prosecutions. Moderate weather has enabled all the boats on the Hudson caught in dangerous places by the late cold snap to reach secure harbors. It is unknown whether Dr. Dunham, a native of Savannah, Ga., who was found dead at New Brunswick, N. J., was murdered or committed suicide. No marks of violence

An old and respected citizen of Ris ing Sun, Ind., named Dr. J. C. Faison, fatally shot a young lawyer named Jetty. Dr. Faison had forbidden Jetty paying any attention to his daughters. A meeting of the Methodist ministers at Sait Lake adopted resolutions protesting against the action of Bishop Havens and the Methodist preachers in Boston nominating Grant for the third term. A London special to the Herald says message has been well received in Europe especially that portion which looks to the possibility of the cursis that correspond with that of other specie-paying committees.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.-Senate. Davis of West Virginia submitted a resolution citing the law requiring reports to be made to Congress annually of persons indebted to the goveroment, list of defaulters, an ount of cefalcation, &c., and calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury to inform the Senate why such reports have not been made. The Republicans fought hard against immediate action. Sherman moved its reference to the committee of fluance. The Democrats returned that several such resolutions had been buried there already. It was finally postponed to o-morrow. On motion of Conover, the views of the Secretary was asked on the importance, practicability and pro-bable cost of improving the channel at the entrance of Cumberland Sound, Florida.

Merrimon, of North Carolina, in-troduced a bill to repeal section 4,716 of the revised statutes which forbids the payment of certain pensions. Referred to committee on Pensions; to repeal so much of section 3480 of the revised statues as forbids the payment of the accounts, claims and de-mands therein named and all laws and clauses of laws forbidding the payment thereof; Judiciary. The bill refers to claims or demands against the United States which occured or existed prior to the 13th day of April 1861, in favor of any person who promoted, encouraged or in any manner sustained the late rebellion It further authorizes the sentiment of such claims and appropriates $400-000 for that purpose.

A Philadelphia dispatch says that Bishop Simpson has denied the state-ment that he had expressed any opinion on the subject of the third term. He deprecates any attempt to nominations or elections.

A Providence dispatch says the night train for New York was thrown from the track by a misplaced switch. It was evidently an attempt to wreck the train as the bolt had been withdrawn and the switch changed by unknown parties. No one hurt. A Convention to nominate what is known as the citizens' ticket for the municipal contest to day in Boston was held yesterday, which nominated Samuel C. Coble for Mayor, eight Republican and four Democratic Al-dermen. This ticket and that of the bolting Republicans are alike.

The Tweed Suits-Motion to For-feiture Recognizances Being Considered.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 .- A motion was made by the District Attorney in the Court of Oyer and Termine to forfeit recognizances of Wm. W. Tweed in various indictments found against him for conspiracy and forgery. Mr. Dudley Field, reoresenied Mr. Charles Devlin, one of the bailsmen, and when the latter was called on to produce Tweed his counsel handed in an affidavit showing cause why the recognizance should not be forfeited, setting forth that the plaintiffs themselves made it impossible for the bondsmen to producethe defendant, and after recognizances were entered into the plaintiffs took the defendant out of the bondsmens hands and on the civil suit turned him over to the sheriff; that the claim on Mr. Devlin was thus unfounded and should fall. The District Attorney argued that it was the duty of the court to order the forteit-ure, and Mr. Field's point could be argued at the general term, and also that the bonds were merely suspended by the imprisonment of Tweed and the civil suits. The court re-served its decision until Monday.

The Virginia U. S. Senatorial Con-RICHMOND, Dec. 13.—The after-noon session after the summary disposition of numerous resolutions looking to bringing the conference down to real business, a resolution was adopted providing that all per-sons to be voted for should be placed in nomination and the one receiving the lowest vote on each ballot drop-ped, and the person so dropped to be renominated only twice, and if any person be withdrawn after being nominated he should be renominated only once. Under this ruling the following names were presented to the conference: Messrs. Goode, Letcher. Johnston, Smith, Stuart, Flournoy, John W. Daniel, of Lynchburg, W. J.
